LEARN.

In the past 9 years, Engineers-Without-Borders (EWB) has grown into a world class development organisation with over 35,000 members, over 2,500 volunteers in Canada, and more than 300 volunteers who have worked overseas.

Overseas, our volunteers build knowledge and capacity among local entrepreneurs and organisations in impoverished communities to spread innovative and appropriate solutions to the challenges of poverty.

In Canada, EWB raises awareness among Canadians about the impact of their daily actions on developing communities. We aim to make Canada a model global citizen in the fight against poverty.

DONATE.

HELP SEND A VOLUNTEER OVERSEAS!

The BC Hydro workplace campaign during Hydrecs aims to raise sufficient funds during Hydrecs to send a volunteer overseas for a four-month placement. Your generous support will enable projects that are helping people escape extreme poverty and lessen people's vulnerability.

If you are interested in applying for an overseas placement, speak to Kyle or Sandra for more information (kyle.robertson@bchydro.com or sandra.gibb@bchydro.com). Or, visit the website at www.ewb.ca.

PARTICIPATE.

Learn more about EWB, International Development, and how BC Hydro is playing its part at any of the lunch 'n' learn workshops or award-winning films in the evening.

Get engaged by joining EWB's Vancouver Professional Chapter (<http://vancouver.ewb.ca/>) where there are monthly film nights and 'Development Drinks' social nights, book clubs, and much more!

Switch to 'Fair Trade' coffee on your floor and look for it in the cafeteria.

Be a global citizen!
